Fiona Lloyd-Davies is an award-winning filmmaker and photojournalist who's been making films and taking pictures about human rights issues in areas of conflict since 1992. Her current Pulitzer Center-supported project focuses on the Congo, the use of rape as a weapon of war and the responsibility to protect.

Her film, Seeds of Hope, captures one woman's struggle to dispel the despair of women survivors of rape in the DRC and will be screening at Brown Hall's Auditorium on Sunday, Nov. 17 at 6:30 p.m. as part of the St. Louis International Film Festival/Human Rights Spotlight series.
