

Present

PHOTOJOURNALIST

DOMINIC BRACCO II

and THE STORIES OF

LOS NINIS

Situated on the U.S. border, Ciudad Juarez is the lynchpin of a major drug trafficking route, and has one of the highest homicide rates in Mexico. Murder-for-hire can be had for $50. The city's resulting decline and lack of good schools has pushed more and more young people into deadly drug cartels. Photojournalist Dominic Bracco II has spent over two years documenting the lives of these youth, who are known as Los Ninis – short for “ni trabaja, ni estudia” (neither work nor study).

JOIN US: 7 PM

C. SHAW SMITH 900 ROOM
ALVAREZ COLLEGE UNION
DAVIDSON COLLEGE

17 TUE.
APRIL 2012

GROWING UP IN JUAREZ

For more information contact the Dean Rusk Program at 704-894-2440
or visit www.pulitzercenter.org